

World History: Food and Politics

Course Syllabus

Instructor: Aliyah Muttaqi

Email: Aliyah@mothlearning.com

Class Time: Friday 3:00-3:50 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time)

Course Description:

Welcome to History: Food and Politics! In this year-long, live course for students in grades 9 and up, we will explore a variety of events throughout world history where political actions and agendas have impacted food production, ignited wars, and changed cultures forever. As a student of this course, you will develop critical thinking skills to understand how food and natural resources directly impact cultural landscapes.

From the Irish Potato Famine to the Delano Grape Boycott, food and politics have worked hand in hand to shape the world we live in. We will highlight the historical inequities different racial and ethnic groups have faced both in growing and consuming food. We will also address how internalized biases may impact our understanding and perception of food today. Students will participate in class discussions and read articles to become familiar with historical events about food, civilization, and government. Throughout this course we will be touching on formative moments in history as well as incorporating fun facts about foods we eat today.

This course is perfect for students who like international studies, history, food/cooking, and are looking for unique subjects to learn about. Classes meet once a week and are discussion based.

Objectives:

- To understand how history and cultures are shaped by food production, inequity, and trade
- To understand how racial biases and colonization might still impact food distribution and consumption
- To become familiar with historical patterns and agendas
- To develop critical thinking skills about war, policies, and protests
- To understand how civilizations have developed around food availability
- To understand the connection between food and workers rights

Schedule:

Week 1: Introduction to Food and Politics

Week 2 & 3: Spices to Slavery, Food In The New World

Week 4 & 5: Dole Pineapple

Week 6 & 7: The United Fruit Company

Week 8 & 9: Delano Grape Strike

Week 10 & 11: Islamic Influence on Spanish Cuisine

Week 12 & 13: Japan - Tempura to Closing The Country

Autumn Break

Week 14 & 15: Thanksgiving

Week 16: Canadian First Nation Food Insecurity (Pt.1)

Winter Break

Week 17: Canadian First Nation Food Insecurity (Pt.2)

Week 18 & 19: Let Them Eat Cake: The French Revolution

Week 20 & 21: The Irish Potato Famine

Week 22 & 23: The Jungle and The Meat Packing Act 1906

Week 24 & 25: The Peanut Industry

Spring Break

Week 26 & 27: The Aztecs - Colonization and Cannibalism

Week 28 & 29: Vietnam - Poppies and Pastry

Week 30 & 31: Cuba - Sugar to Communism

Week 32: Presentations

Text:

There is no required text for the course. Any readings will be made available electronically.

Homework:

Students will have required readings or videos to complete outside of scheduled class days. It is recommended they take notes for the next meeting's discussion and weekly questions posted to the classroom. There will be an end of year presentation due in class during our last meeting.* There will be no midterm or tests due in this course.

Student Expectations:

Cameras must be on throughout the semester.*
Students are required to participate in discussions.*
Grading is optional.

*For any exceptions, the reason must be listed in the sign-up form so we can accommodate your student's needs.